

Design Your Future

Science Week 2015 Lecture Series

Monday 9th November

It is Rocket Science

MAIN CANTEEN 1.00PM

Helen Keen

Helen Keen's 'It Is Rocket Science!' is a low budget, highly comical look at the history and future of space travel. This live show has so far launched three award-winning, critically acclaimed series for BBC Radio 4.

Sharks and Art, Science and Technology in Underwater Photography

ROOM A0006 7.00PM

By Brian Stone & Nigel Motyer

Nigel Motyer is a well know teaching and speaking personality on the Irish underwater photography scene. Nigel's photography has been widely published around the world including Subsea, Diver, Sport Diver, Dive as well as National Geographic Magazine.

Brian Stone is a very experienced diver and underwater photographer. Brian is a university lecturer and researcher working in the area of marine image analysis in Dublin City University.

Tuesday 10th November

Honey, The Oldest Known Medicine to Mankind

ROOM A0006 7.30PM

By Philip McCabe

Philip is a native of County Louth and is one of Ireland's best known bee-keepers. A regular guest on "Mooney Goes Wild", he helps the public deal on the topic of beekeeping and the many problems presented by swarming bees and wasp's nests.

Wednesday 11th November

Jumping Through Hoops and Chasing our Tails - Challenges in Securing Market Approval of Pharmaceutical Products.

ROOM A0004 12.00PM

By Dr Donal Coveney, Managing Director TopChem Pharmaceuticals Ltd.

Nature Walk at IT Sligo Campus

1.00-2.00PM

By Michael Casey, IT Sligo Michael Bell, Birdwatch Ireland

Convene at the fish Monument at 1.00pm.

Thursday 12th November

Black Holes in Space

ROOM A0006 7.30PM

By Professor Jocelyn Bell Burnell, visiting Professor of Astrophysics, University of Oxford.

British astronomer who discovered pulsars, the cosmic sources of peculiar radio pulses.

ISTA Senior Science Quiz for Second Level Schools

A0004 7.30PM

Friday 13th November

Earth Building Ireland Conference 2015

ROOM A0006 9.00AM-4.45PM

By Ms Shirley Markley, IT Sligo Archaeology Lecturer.

This is the first inaugural EBUKI (Earth Building UK and Ireland) conference to be held in Ireland since Ireland's entry to the organisation in June 2015.

Birdart

ROOM A0006 8.00PM

Gordan D'Arcy Environmentalist and Bird Artist

Gordon D'Arcy is an environmental author, artist and educator. He uses art as the medium through which to teach and influence people to become more environmentally aware.

